

Keeley Bowman

DNP

IAFNF DIRECTOR AT LARGE CANDIDATE BIO

Keeley Bowman graduated from Vanderbilt University School of Nursing in 2001. After earning her certification as a Women's Health NP, she worked in a variety of settings including the hospital at the bedside and the office as an NP. In 2006, she entered the world of nursing education and stayed in that world until 2019. She completed her DNP with a focus in forensic nursing in 2010. Leaving her role as an assistant professor at Vanderbilt University, she braved the cold and remote area of Nome, AK for a year, managing the Forensic Nursing Program. In 2020, she moved to Bozeman, MT to coordinate their forensic nursing program. She continues to live there with her husband and animals. Her current interest is in training community members and working with nursing students regarding the role of the forensic nurse.
